

BACKYARDBIO IS FOR EVERYONE!

You don't have to be an expert!

There are a ton of naturalists out there who observe, study and document wildlife for a living. But anyone can get out and explore the wildlife near them! No matter how young or how inexperienced - everyone starts somewhere!

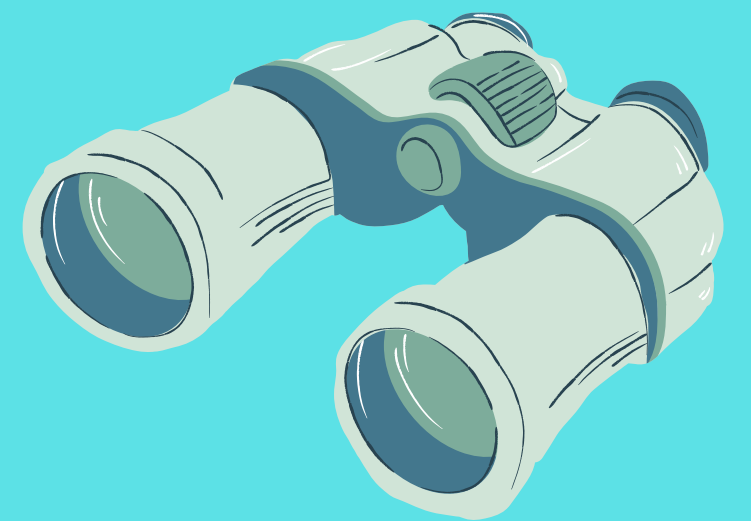

You don't need fancy cameras!

High tech cameras definitely capture the best, magazine ready photos. But a camera phone or even a sketchbook will do wonderfully! Plus, you'll learn how to observe more closely and gain more skills in the process!

You can do it from anywhere!

Dense jungles, deep oceans and mountain peaks make for epic spots to see wildlife - but everyone can see amazing creatures near them in local parks or even in your own backyard!

Every bit of time in nature counts!

Be it a ten hour hike, a short walk by a local stream or just glancing outside at a bird feeder - everytime you observe and photograph animals you're learning about and connecting with the natural world!

Learn more at Backyardbio.net